STEM OPT Information

STEM OPT Extension

Former students working on OPT may be eligible to apply for an additional 24 months of OPT if they fulfill both of the following criteria:

- You must have graduated with a STEM degree that is listed on the US Department of Homeland Security's STEM Designated Degree program list. The CIP code on the list must match the CIP code on your Form I-20 exactly. It is your responsibility to make sure you are eligible, based on your CIP code.
- You must be working for an E-Verify employer for at least 20 hours per week. This means the employer uses the E-Verify system to determine employee's work eligibility. The Human Resources department of the employer can let you know if they use E-Verify.

Applications for a STEM OPT extension must be received by USCIS (either through online or paper mail submission) no later than the end date of the current 12-month post-completion OPT period. The process is very similar to the OPT application process, so be sure you allow plenty of time to collect the appropriate documents.

OIS recommends that students begin the STEM OPT application process about 3 to 3.5 months before their post-completion OPT end date.

OIS collects a $250 fee at the time of the STEM OPT request. This is collected via credit card and is non-refundable. The fee supports OIS staff in continuing to provide guidance and fulfill reporting requirements during a student's STEM OPT period.

How to Apply for the STEM OPT Extension

- Review OIS' online STEM OPT tutorials.
 - Contact your Immigration Specialist with any follow-up questions.
- Complete Form I-983 with your STEM OPT qualifying employer.
 - The federal government provides guidance and instructions about the Form I-983.
 - OIS offers a Sample Form I-983, with specific guidance about hybrid / remote positions.
- Prepare digital materials for OIS:
